

ANNUAL REPORT 2005

Summary by Elizabeth Ives Hunter, Executive Director

2005 was an important year for the museum, marked by a number of events:

- We changed our name to THE CAPE COD MUSEUM OF ART
- Dr. Morris Cohen willed his collection of paintings by J.J. Enneking, and his son J. Elliot Enneking, to the museum.
- We received a fine example of work by Hans Hofmann, abstract expressionist.
- Our summer Art Camp was formally organized.
- We offered graduate art courses in collaboration with the University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth.
- Our membership grew past 2,000.
- Our overall attendance grew by 55%.

Donations, gifts and grants to the museum grew by 54% - reflecting both increased support for our ongoing exhibitions and classes, but also a recognition that the future of the museum depends on building a permanent endowment which will ultimately provide significant support for operations.

Overall, costs were up by 12% over the 2004 levels, with a major shift away from administrative costs and increased focus on our programs and services. The result was better exhibitions and programs for our members and community.

2006 marks the 25th anniversary of the Cape Cod Museum of Art – we have come a long way since our founders recognized the need for a regional museum to collect, conserve, study, interpret and exhibit works by outstanding artists associated with Cape Cod and the Islands. None of our institutional accomplishments would mean much outside the context of the community which we serve and nothing would be possible without the combined efforts of our supporters. I want to give special thanks to everyone whose time, talent, and treasure has contributed to our efforts this year.
